ACADEMIC PROJECTS
Smart Fault Detection and Load Shifting	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The project detects the fault in 3 phase supply by embedded technology by taking precise comp lm-339, hence with the help of this IC the status of fault was checked • The aim was to develop automatic mechanism for a three-phase project which automatically resets the result after a short break, in a temporary fault event as it remains capable of switching off in the event of permanent failure The concept of load shifting was also extended by developing a mechanism to make a call to the authorities via an application by interfacing a GSM modem
